Queen Victoria Disquieted Over the Turn of Affairs.

The New Government's Policy Not to Be Made Public for Months-Parliaat to Be Prorogued in a Few Days.

By relegraph to The Twee.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—[Copyright, 1892, by the New York Associated Press.]

Gladstone will go to Osborne House on Monday with a complete list of the next cabinet to submit to the Queen, but, in pursuance of constitutional usage, he maintains an absolute silence on the proposed appointments. It is impossi-ble to conceal the fact that arrange-ments have been made for Sir William ments have been made for Sir William Vernon Harcourt to become Chancellor of the Exchequer, and for John Morley to be Irish Secretary, but Gladstone's intentions regarding other ministers are not known, even to the definitely appointed members of his ministry. Being a punctillious observer of official precedent he will not formally offer a place to any one until he actually receives the Queen's commands to form a ministry. Among the most striking reports finding credence in official quarters is one to the effect that Lord Herschell, will become Governor-General of India; that Lord effect that Lord Herschell, will become Governor-General of India; that Lord Chief Justice Coleridge will become Lord Chancellor, and Sir Charles Russell will become Lord Chief Justice. Lord Herschell's transfer will cause a shudder of apprehension throughout the country in view of the critical position of Indian-Russian relations. Until Tuesday, when Gladstone returns from Osborne House, the exact composition of the cabinet will remain nuknown.

It is thought in court circles that it of the cabinet will remain unknown. It is thought in court circles that it was fear regarding the personnel of the Gladstone ministry that mainly induced the Queen to consult the Duke of Devonshire during his visit to Osborne House, as to whether it was possible for him to reunite with Gladstone and sweeten the Liberal ministry by taking office himself. Another source of the Queen's disquietude is the change in the royal household appointments inevitable on Gladstone's accession to power. Gladstone will find it exceedingly difficult to get personages agreeable to the Queen to fill the great court offices.

A LOST ART RECOVERED.

The Jld Process of Hardening Copper QUEBEC, Aug. 12.—[By the Associated Press.] Local scientists say that one of the most wonderful discoveries of recent years is that made by a blacksmith of this city named Ferdinand Allard.

of this city named Ferdinand Allard. It is the long lost art of hardening copper. Axes and other edged tools made of hardened copper have been exhibited by him, which rival the best steel of the present day. A piece of Allard's prepared copper was tested at the Government's rifle ranges. A shot was fired from forty yards distance and the bullet was ahivered into a thousand fragments. Another shot was fired, the missile striking more squarely and it was completely flattened. This is claimed by experts to be vastly superior to anything the best steel could do under like circumstances and the matter is to be brought to the immediate notice of the British Lords of the Admiralty.

the Associated Press.] Lizzle C. Borden was arraigned in the Second District Court this morning, charged with killing her father and step-mother. The prisoner pleaded not golity to the charge, and Monday, August 22, was set for her trial. Miss Borden was committed without bail. The prisoner was taken to Taunton this evening and locked up.

There are strong rumors this evening that the police have procured the hatchet with which the orime was committed. The police are in possession of a peculiar hatchet, and the rumor that this particular hatchet was used is greatly strengthened by the strong wording of City Marshal Hilliard's complaint, published today. No hatchet like the one in custody can be found in local hardware stores. Its greatest peculiarity is a claw on the side nearest the handle. It is said the hatchet fits into the murderous wounds in Mrs. Borden's head.

Tonight Marshal Hilliard said there was a great deal yet to be proved before the orime could be finally fastened upon Miss Borden. Much had been learned, but for all that he could see the trial would be long and tedious.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—[By the Associated Press.] Under the act of Congress authorizing the President to invite foreign naval powers to participate in the naval review to be held in New York Harbor next April, the State Department has issued invitations in the name of the President to the naval powers of the world. In the notification sent to American ministers in countries invited to send ships to take part in the review it is recited that the United States will assemble a fleet at Hampton Reads, in the month 'of April next, with instructions to proceed thence to New York Harbor and take part in a naval review in connection with the international exposition at Chicago.

The United States fleet will be composed of vessels of the most modern types and the demonstra-tion will further includes reproduc-tion of the caravels which composed the fleet of Columbus on his voyage of discovery. The notification directs the ministers to communicate to the governments to which they are accredited the purpose of the United States and to tender a cordial invitation to send a fleet of vessels which may fittingly represent their power to join tion to send a neet of vessels which may fittingly represent their power to join the United States fleet in Hampton Roads. Gen. L. A. Sheldon Selected Important Mission.

He May Lead an Expedition to Expl the Lower Compo Basin in the Interest of Prominent Capitalisis. By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—]Special.]
The proposition of Speyer Bros. of London and C. P. Huntington to have the Lower Congo Basin in Western Africa thoroughly explored for its industrial capabilities is to be carried out by Gen. L. A. Sheldon of Los Angeles, who is ex-Governor of New Mexico. Huntington is interested with the great finan-cial firm of London in the development of that region and when Speyer Bros. wanted somebody who could tell what the resources and capabilities of the Congo country were, especially in a horticultural way, they requested Hun-tington to select an expert Californian for the mission. Huntington referred the selection of a man to W. H. Mills cants, requested Mr. Sheldon to undertake the expedition. Mr. Sheldon accepted and now Speyer Bros. have cabled their acceptance of him. The details of the expedition remain to be arranged.

Mr. Sheldon is a man of literary ability and of wide experience in fruit culture. It is thought that the Lower Congo region will produce as fine fruits as Southern California, and there are many things to be found out about that untried and little-known country. Stan-ley and other explorers have confined themselves to geographical descriptions and personal adventures, but Mr. Sheldon will describe the forests, soils, climate and all other conditions which may have value in view of the opening and development of the country. The railroads now heigh built are around railroads now being built are around Stanley Falls, 250 miles from the coast, and around another series of falls which interrupt the otherwise free navigation

WHAT GEN. SHELDON SAYS.

He Will Take the Position if the Terms Are Satisfactory. Ex-Gov. Sheldon spent yesterday at Long Beach. He was met upon his return to his home in Pasadena by a following statement on the matter:

"I have had some discussion with W. "I have had some discussion with W.

H. Mills on the subject of heading an expedition to the Congo, Africa, where
C. P. Huntington is building a railroad.
The object of the expedition is to investigate the economic and commercial aspects of that country. I have agreed to go if terms are satisfactory. By telegram I am informed that the San Francisco Chronicle of this morning made the scheme public. The information must have come from Mr. Mills, as I have not made mention of the matter.
It is about the time when Mr. Hunting-It is about the time when Mr. Hunting-ton should be heard from. It is proba-ble-that I shall hear something definite about tomorrow. The details of the scheme have not been gone into. If Mr. Huntington has determined on such an enterprise, and the compensation of-fered is satisfactory, I shall go."

CRUSHED TO DEATH. everal Men Fatally Injured by a Falling

Building
OGDEN (N. J.,) Aug. 12.—[By the Associated Press.] A building being erected here fell this morning, burying twenty men beneath its ruins. Search for bodies under the wreck of the colfor bodies under the wreck of the collapsed building was immediately begun. The first victim taken out was an Italian workman. His dead body was terribly mangied. Soon after three others were removed in a dying condition. Up to a late hour tonight twelve men have been taken out, all seriously, and four fatally wounded. Several of the others, it is also feared, will die. The work of rescue is being pushed forward very fast. The injuries of those taken from the ruins are of a most terrible nature, the limbs of some being torn off, while the faces and bodies of others are crushed almost beyond recognition.

LATRE—Another dead body has been recovered, that of a boy named McKeneon.

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 12 .- [By the Associ ated Press.] The coroner's jury, after hearing testimony in regard to the Ira Wall-Walters tragedy near Elsinore, brought in a verdict that Wall came to his death by a gunshot wound inflicted by Elmer Walters while the latter was efending his water ditch.

Walters is in custody and will have an examination tomorrow. Mrs. Wall's case is a very serious one.

Several buckshot entered her side and chest cavity and it is thought one or more entered her lungs.

CLIPPER COMPETITORS.

The Water Lines Revolutionizing Freight Rates to the East.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—[By the Associated Press.] The operations of rival clipper ship lines doing business etween here and New York have led to a large increase in the freight ship both eastbound and westbound Yesterday the ship John McDonald cleared with over 1,000,000 pounds of wine, canned goods, dried fruit and other merchandise, making the fourth vessel for that port in about six weeks Three ressels, the Tam O'Shanter, M. P Grace and Florence, are in port ready for additional cargoes. Under the for additional cargoes. Clude the rivalry of the two principal competing lines, seaboard rates have gone down and overland railroad rates on similar classes of goods are marked for big reductions. An eastbound rate of $8.50 ductions. An eastbound rate of $3.50 per ton on barley, canned goods, etc., via Cape Horn is the lowest ever quoted for through shipments and represents about $8 per ton for all classes of freight. Forty-two thousand tons are en route from New York at practically an open rate of 35 cents per 100 pounds, and 15,000 tons from Philadelphia. The number of vessels loading or on the way is twenty-four. J. W. Grace & Co. have three; Balfour, Guth-rie & Co., two; the Johnson-Locke Mercantile Company two, and Sutton and the California line others. Merchants feel disposed to patronize the ship-owners rather than railroads. It be-came known late yesterday that the Traffic Association and a number of prominent merchants had subscribed $85,000 to guarantee one of the clipper lines against any probable loss conse-quent on low rates by the overland freight lines. THE NAVAL RESERVE.

THE MONETARY CONFERENCE.

An English View of the Probable Result of the Meeting. London, Aug. 12,—[Copyright. 1892, by the New York Associated Press.] Arrangements for the meeting of the International Monetary Conference are progressing. Mr. Currie, of the bank-ing firm of Glynn, Currie & Co., is the strongest man appointed by England. He has no tendency whatever toward bi-metallism; on the contrary, he is sound for the single standard. His influence will overrule any inclination of his co-delegates toward an arrangement satisfactory to the American or other delegates. Sir C. W. Fremantle is a mono-metallist. Sir W. H. Houlds-worth and Gen. Strachey are bi-metal-lists, and Mr. Murray, who is a treasury clerk, is neutral. Members of the conference will have a pleasant time in Dresden, but will effect little.

By Telegraph to The Times.

PORT TOWNSEND (Wash.,) Aug. 12.-[By the Associated Press.] News was received tonight by the steamer Bertha from Ounalaska, stating that a detach ment of marines from the U.S.S. York town fired several volleys of rifle balls into the pilot house of the steamer Polar Bear, seriously wounding the chief en

The Polar Bear was used as a tender for the canneries at Bristol Bay and was returning to Astoria after a sea son's work. While passing through False Pass August 1 she ran ashore. A crowd of men armed with long range rifles appeared from behind a bluff, and without warning fired on the steamer. She got away finally, however, and left for Ounalaska and reported the affair to the captain of the U.S.S. Adams who said the commander of the Yorktown left a detachment of marines at False Pass with instructions to allow no vessels to pass, and it is probable the marines mistook the Polar Bear for a British poaching steamer.

The affair has created intense excitement at Ounalaska.

Topping Corn.
[American Cultivator.] Whoever nowadays sees corn topped? Yet it is within the memory of those now living when in many sections that was the common method of securing the crop. It was argued by the farmers that the corn ripened better for allowing the sunlight to rest on the ears, and secondly, that the tops cut off above the ear were the only part of the cornstalk worth saving. It is true cattle did eat these toppings in winter, but it is not strange that corn fodder was not much relied upon for winter feeding. There was not much of it saved, and the best part, the middle of the stalk about where the ear forms, was always left to waste in the field. After standing for months exposed to all kinds of weather, cattle would not eat the coarse stalks left after the topping. By and by some now living when in many sections that cattle would not eat the coarse stalks left after the topping. By and by some one thought to try the cow's opinion. It is always the same. Break off every ear and pass a cornstalk before the cow. She will reach for the middle, crunching it in her mouth, and doubling up the stalk as she chews on it. When she has eaten all she likes she bites off the ends, being the extreme top and the coarser lower part. Any one who has watched a cow eat cornstalks will never waste good fodder by topping corn. Besides, it is now known that the corn yield is lessened, and no advantage is gained in early ripening.

Moulting Hens. [Farm and Fireside.] As soon as the hens begin to show nakedness, and also to commence drop nakedness, and also to commence droping their feathers, but few eggs should be expected, as the hens will rest from their work until they take on new plumage. The sooner they put on their new attire the sooner they will commence to lay. The best food for them is lean meat, or fresh bones from the butcher, but as all oily foods hasten moniting of the feathers, a pint of linseed oil may be added to their food daily, for twenty hens. Feed the moulting hens once a day and give them liberty on the range.

Patry Offenders.

A Teity swindler Finally Caught Up with—Polise Court Cases.

A Mexican named Filomeno Terres was yesterday arrested by Officer Roberts and locked up on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses. Some days ago Terres tried to pass a $10 Confederate bill on the East Side, but did not succeed, and a case could not be made against him. Yesterday he sent a small boy into Ward's jewelry store on Main stacet with the $10 Confederate note, who picked out a cheapring and tendered the bill in payment. When asked where he got the money he said at a bank, when Ward offered to go with him to the bank and started off with Terres who was waiting outside. At the bank the teller explained to Ward the character of the money offered, whereupon Ward turned Terres over to Officer Roberts. On being searched at the station a pin was found on Terres which Ward said was stolen from him, and another complaint will probably be lodged against him.

John Robitson, a dog-catcher, was yesterday arrested on a charge of battery on a small boy. He was arraigned on the charge and will be tried today.

A youth named Harrison, formerly employed as a porter at the old Vienna Buffet, was yesterday tried before Justice Austin on a charge of petty larceny and acquitted. All Butler, the pugilist, accused Harrison of stealing some clothing from a trunk, which had been left in one of the rooms at the place. Harrison then swore out a complaint against Butler for battery, claiming that the latter assaulted him and struck him in the face.

Eugene Bearns, a patient in the county hospital, was arrested yesterday afternoon on complaint of Steven Gurowski, one of the hospital employés, on a charge of battery. Bearns claims that when he entered the kitchen at the hospital, on some errand. Gurowski, who is known as "the big Russian," attempted to throw him out, when a fight ensued. The Russian got the worst of it, and to get even, swore to a complaint against him.

Fattening the Turkeys.

[Farm and Fireside.]

The turkey will not fatten if closely confined in a coop. For a few days it may gain in flesh, but after that length of time it will lose in weight, no matter how well fed, as it will worry and fret for liberty. The proper way to fatten the turkeys is to begin about a month before the time fixed for marketing time and feed them early in the morning and also when they come up at night. In the morning give them all the wheat they will eat and at night give corn. Give them full liberty on the fields.

Four years ago 1,000,000 pounds of California fruit was sold in New York, last year 2,000,000 pounds, and this year they expect to ship 20,000,000 pounds. The fruit crop of California last year was estimated as worth $50,000,000, while the products of the gold mines were only $15,000,000.—[Rural New Yorker.

Since the First of July 433 Voters Have Been Turned Out.

Remarkable Preponderance of the Ga man Element—Interesting Statis-tics—Amusing Scenes During Process of Manufacture.

There has been a big boom in the naturalization of aliens during the past six weeks. The Democrats started a naturalization bureau on June 1. The Republicans were behind hand, coming in much later. The chief work has been done since July 1. Since that been done since July 1. Since that date 433 new American citizens have been manufactured in Los Angeles. Of these, the Democrats claimed to have turned in four-fifths, but it is, of course, difficult to get at the exact figures. They have been very active, however, and have overlooked no possible chance of making a vote, in some cases straining a point wherever it was possible. One Democratic worker, who turned in numerous fledgling Democrats, was at length accosted by the Judge, who wanted to know how it was that he brought in so many people, and asked brought in so many people, and ask him how long he had been in the cot try. He showed that he had been he longer than the Judge and the vote n kept at work.

Naturalization closed on the 10th of Naturalization closed on the 10th of August. There were only two courts in session most of the time, the other judges being in the country for their health. Judges Clark and Smith, with a little help from Judge Shaw, did most of the work. On the 9th, a night session was held, during which forty certificates were issued. Still, a number of would-be voters were too late. Begistration will now continue until October 22. The number of new citizens manufactured has been heavy this year. The following statement shows the manufactured has been heavy this year.

nationality of the 483 new citizens enrolled since July 1:

The preponderance of the German element here is remarkable. Of the 433 new voters, no less than 130 are element here is remarkable. Of the 438 new voters, no less than 130 are Germans, including natives of Bavaria, Prussia, Saxony and Baden, which are integral portions of the German em-pire, and should have been classed with Germany. Equally remarkable is the small proportion of Irish, who number only eighteen, or a little over 4 per cent. against seventy-seven, or 18 per cent., against seventy-seven, or 18 per cent. of English. There are few, if any, cities of the United States which would not show a larger Irish natural-would not show a larger irish i ization.

The new citizens were well ins The new citizens were well instructed by the naturalization bureaus, Democratic and Republican, as to the questions they would have to answer, yet some of them made bad breaks and got in by the "skin of their teeth," while others did not pass at all. One man answered all the questions satisfactorily until he was asked who was the Governor of the State. He scratched his head and said: "I know him, Judge, I know him!" "Well, how do you know him?" "Well, how do you know him?" "Why, he's a big man, with a black moustache, and runs a furniture store on Main street!" He had been store on Main street!" He had been told that Gov. Markham was connected with the Los Angeles Furniture Com-knocked out by a question which few "average citizens" would be able to an-swer, of hand. This man—an intelliswer, off hand. This man—an intelligent German—after answering all other questions correctly, was asked how many Congressmen there are in the House of Representatives. How many of the readers of The This can answer this question off hand?

Col. J. R. Dobbins of Alhambra has ust delivered his crop of Valencia ranges free on board cars at that place at $4 per box. From 130 trees, 8 rears old, he realizes $2400 gross, or $2000 after paying all expen ses. A Premier in High Dudgeon - "The Blarsted Country" Again. According to a special dispatch from New York, Sir George R. Dibbs, Her. "Certainly." said he; "then, and not till then, I will believe that there is no hoar or hum-bug." Immediately the mystic board rushed off and spelt the two words, "French joke." "Is that a satisfactory reply!" was asked. As it was not, "French joke." "Is that a satisfactory reply!" was asked. As it was not, planchette was requested to explain itself. Whereupon it Instantly wrote; "What is joke in French!" None, of the party remembered; and the French dictionary had to be consulted, when the skeptic, jumping up with an exclamation of surprise, exclaimed, "I asked the question in my own mind, and not a soul in the room could know it. "What horse is going to win the Cambridge-shire? and here is the answer!"—as he handed the dictionary to the others—"Plaisanterie!" THE BUG PHALANX

Much has been said touching the-efficacy of the new Australian lady bugs (Orcus Ohalubeus, O. Australiasac, and Leis Conformics) in feeding upon the injurious insects affecting citrus and deciduous fruit orehards. The growers have been given to understand that this group of predacious insects would prove as effectual in keeping the red scale of the orange and woolly aphis of the apple, and neach in subred scale of the orange and woolly aphis of the apple and peach in subjection, as the Vedalia Cardinalis did with the white cottony cushion scale. Since these new parasites have been "planted" in our orchards, now some six months, it is interesting to know just what they have accomplished. Yesterday Horticultural Commissioner John Scott of Los Angeles counts. Prof. D. Scott of Los Angeles county, Prof. D. W. Coquillette, of the Department of Agriculture (Division of Entomology) a number of prominent orchardists and a coterie of newspaper men made a ton of all orchards in which these parasite of all orchards in which these parasites had been put, and made minute and critical observations of their movements.

The first place visited was the orange grove of Albert Kercheval on Lemon street. Here were found all conditions calculated to be favorable to the lady birds. The orchard is well protected, and the supply of red and yellow scale ample to support great numbers of the parasites. What are the facts and actual results in the case?

On November 28, 1891, Prof. Coulliette had constructed a tent over an orange tree badly infested with scale, in which, between that date and January 28, he liberated eighty-two beetles. On the latter day, in addition to this number, he liberated 825 beetles in the open orchard, eight on February in the open orchard, eight on February 20 and twenty-seven on April 15, in all 442 beetles of Orcus Chalpheus. And what is the result? Simply this: The bugs have not multiplied at all; indeed of the entire 442 it was with difficulty of the entire 442 it was with difficulty that a dozen of the beetles were to be found, while but few of the eggs and larva were to be seen.

The parasite of the woolly aphis (Leis Conformies) to the number of 170 were liberated in the apple orchard of Samuel McKinley on May 14, but a careful inspection failed to reveal a single spec-

William Niles, on Washington street, where 540 of the lady birds were liberated on May 14. Here the conditions for their breeding are exceptionally favorable; the orchard is well protected from prevailing winds, while the trees are quite badly infested with yellow, are quite bady intested with post-red and black scale. On the tree on which they were liberated only a few beetles were to be found; there was no evidence that they had multiplied at all. Similar results were observe points, and the consensus of opinion among the investigators was that, as effectual parasites of the red scale and colly aphis our new Australian lady irds have proven a failure. Allowing for the fact that, in six month's time the Vedalia Cardinalis of blessed memory—had practically cleaned out the white scale in whole ctions, and that it had multiplied un til there were literally millions through-out the orange growing sections, it would certainly seem that the failure would certainly seem that the Tailure of the new bugs to breed was not the result of improper care. Possibly the climate is at fault, but allowing again for the fact that the Australian climate closely resembles this, that can hardly be the cause. Orchardists who are most familiar with the subject have no faith in the bugs as effectual parasites, and in the bugs as effectual parasites, and place no hope of their ever proving effectual. The horticultural authorities think it is to be regretted that so much has been printed in relation to their wonderful cannibalism, which actual experience has taught is at variance with the facts.

degenerate posterity, and the Span-iards, could not raise it from the ground. Tradition has immortalized one Adar-goma of Grand Canary, who could wrestle for two successive hours, and, having been thrown undermost in a cer-tain contest, got his antagonist between his legs and arms and squeezed h

The native was subsequently sent as a prisoner to Spain, where he astounded the people by his performances. One day in Seville, he was visited by a brawny youth of La Mancha, who was anxious to try a bout with him. "My good friend," said Adargoma, "as we are going to wrestle together it is only reasonable that we should begin by drinking, something."
A large bowl of wine having been brought, he took this in one hand and continued to address his challenger:
"If with both your arms you can overpower one of mine, so as to hinder me from drinking every drop of this wine, we will try our strength together. If not, you may return to your own home."
The strength together. we will try our strength together. It not, you may return to your own home." The struggle took place and Adargoma, by degrees, drained the bowl in the coolest manner-without spilling a drop of the wine. His one hand was more than a match for the other's two. common for a man to take an untethered ox by the horn with one hand and slay it with the other. A certain native-born priest of Grand Canary in the seventeenth century showed that he inherited some of his ancestors' vigor. He could not only kill an ox in this way, but one day, hearing that an enraged bull had broken loose and was in the street, he ran out, and, grasping it by the leg, threw it down and so held it until its owner was able to secure it. It was then found that his thigh bone was solid, with no trace of marrow. It must be confessed, however, that the relics of the Canarians now found in their burying-places do not bear out the inference that this was a national characteristic, though their dimensions are certainly a testimony of the strength and size of their late proprietors.

feating the Angels after a hard fight by a score of 4 to 2. They had to play ball to do it, though, and the splendid ladies' day crowd that turned out to see the game scarcely envied the Dukes a victory which came to them by a combination of superior team work brilliant fadding and derive as work, brilliant fielding and daring ex-hibitions on the base lines, all aided by hibitions on the base lines, all aided by the generous smiles of Dame Fortune, who even seemed to frown on the valight band of erstwhile sluggers endearingly styled "Angels." Yesterday the latter did not spread out their wings in a judicious manner when they reached a base, but, on the contrary, induged in some desperate chances on the base lines when no hands were out and good stickers up, and overlooked an almost even chance to the the score by being over-anxious. But everybody witnessed good ball, and there was scarcely a murmur at the outcome.

Roach and Lookabaugh were in the horse."

Nicholas Lookabaugh had both speed and control, and plenty of both. He was touched up for eleven safe shots, but they were so scattered out, and backed by such brilliant fielding that not a man could be worked across the plate until after nine of the hits had been bagged in seven innings' play, and it looked very much like a shut out for the locals.

With the exception of a hard chance missed by McVey the Dukes played an errorless game, and it was replete with pretty fleiding, exhibitions of brilliant stops and circus catches. Once Jerry Denny ran across the diamond for a bounding hit of Roach's. He grabbed it with one hand near the plate and while still on the run shot the ball to first ahead of his man. It was as gretty a play as of his man. It was as pretty a play as the "King" ever made in his palmiest days, and he was heartily cheered as he completed it. Capt. Ebright handled his sight chances in a clean-cut way, and McGucken covered lots of ground in the field.

and McGucken covered lots of ground in the field.

The out-field honors were captured by "Rasty" Wright, who was obliged to remove his cap as he came in from the field after making a circus catch of Lookabaugh's long his in the sixth, retiring the side. Glenalvintook everything that came his way, while "Pap" Lytle batted the ball like a demon, ripping off a single, a double and a triple. The Dukes scored one run in the second, when Denny received one of Roach's shoots on the shin and took first, going clear to third on Everett's single. Everett made the play to steal second, and while he was being run down between the bases by Glenalvin, Stafford, McCauley and Roach, the latter fell down with ball in his hand and Denny scored.

Two more were added in the fifth, when errors by Stafford and McCauley gave Stallings and Lookabaugh safe, and both of them scored on Clark's single and Stafford's second error. In

In the eighth for Los Angeles McCauley flew out to Ebright and McVey's error gave Glenalvin a life. Then "Pap" Lytle smashed out his third hit, a screaming three-bagger to deep center, and scored on Newman's sacrifice.

In the seventh Hulen and Roach led off with singles but could not score. In the ninth, with one out, Wright sin-gled and Tredway walked to first, but neither McCauley nor Glenalvin could advance them. Following is the story in figures:

Cultivating the Wild Persimmon.

[American Gardening.]

A fruit-grower in the southern part A fruit-grower in the southern part of Indiana makes a business of growing persimmons, packing the fruit in boxes and shipping it to Indianapolis, where it sells for 20 cents a box, and the boxes do not hold over a quart. He has been doing this for years and now has a large orchard of persimmon trees. He has also established a nursery for them and is raising trees to sell.

[It might be a good thing for some of our fruit-raisers to start an orchard of the wild persimmon. It is decidedly better fruit than the showy Japanese article, and matures perfectly in this vicinity.]

To Get Rid of Rabbits.

-[Crown Vista: Pasadena.]

A gentleman who claims much experience in protecting trees from the depredations of rabbits tells in the Americal Gardening of the most effectual plan has found. He says he has tried tarred and oiled paper for two years for rehas found. He says he has tried tarred and oiled paper for two years for repelling rabbits and has been disgusted with the results, the tar blackening the bark and the oiled paper becoming torn with the storms and affording shelter for the insects. But washing with soft soap and carbolic acid has proved effectual and satisfactory. A quart of soft soap is added to three quarts of boiling water, and two ounces of carbolic acid are added. An old shoe brush is used in applying it. He applied it last autumn to 1000 trees and not one was injured by the rabbits up to this year, although these animals were abundant. Applied twice a year it repels borera.

IN A SAD PLIGHT. Sad Condition of Five Motherless

Who Refuses to Acknowledge the Paternity of His Infant-The Mother's Death.

Children at Garvanza,

Some time ago there appeared in Garvanza a blacksmith named J. M. Smith, who was accompanied by his wife, Nancy Jane Smith, and four chil-dren, the eldest of whom was about 12 years of age. He obtained employment at the Campbell-Johnson ranch and earned fairly good wages; but being of a convivial nature and somewhat prone to spend more of his time in the society of his male friends than in the bosom of his family, very little of his earnings were devoted to the provision of the latter. This duty, therefore, fell upon Mrs. Smith, who, by the sale of milk, chickens and eggs managed to scrape sufficient money together to purchase a few necessary articles of furniture, pay the rent and purchase a horse, in order to make her rounds as her customers increased. By dint of hard work, the poor woman eked out a living for her-self and the children for some time, her self and the children for some time, her husband, meanwhile, continuing to live with her, but without contributing his share of the burden. In April last, however, the demon of jealousy entered the little household and Smith finally openly accused his long-suffering wife with infidelity, and on May 10 commenced suit for divorce on the ground of adultery. The poor woman being too poor to employ counsel to defend her from this terrible accusation was almost at her wits end, sel to defend her from this terrible accusation was almost at her wits end, but finally consulted W. F. Henning, Eaq., whom she formerly furnished with milk and vegetables, sind upon fearining the facts that attorney undertook to fight the case for her. During her last sickness Mrs. Smith was attended by a doctor and nurse, to pay whom she was compelled to part with a number of her household goods, her children being too young to help themselvea or carry on her busi-ness.

Smith, who had recently joined the hurch, upon learning of his wife's Smith, who had recently joined the church, upon learning of his wife's danger, went to the house accompanied by a woman, whom he installed there as nurse, but so afraid was the sick woman of her husband that she refused and insisted that Mrs. Harrischfeger, a widow neighbor, remain at her bedside. Just before her death Mrs. Smith told her nurse that she had hidden $20 of her savings in a trunk and that she might take that, but after his wife's death Smith appropriated this sum and also a purse containing $10 which the dying woman had given her.

The worst part of the whole affair is that Smith absolutely refuses to admit the paternity of the baby, to take it off Mrs. Harnischfeger's hands, or to pay her for its support.

Furthermore, he took possession of his wife's horse, so that nothing remained upon which the poor woman could levy, and it is this action upon which the gossips are dwelling at the present time. A letter was recently received in this city from Mrs. W. H. The child's foster mother, Mrs. Harnischfeger, whose husband was killed some two years ago while serving a warrant upon a crazy man on the Arroyo Seco, can ill afford to maintain the child, meanwhile, and unless Smith assumes meanwhile, and unless Smith assumes the responsibility of providing for it, steps will be taken in the near future to prosecute him for his failure to do so.

7 HEN you take into consideration that the trade of this house is increasing more rapidly now than during any time in its history, and with fully ten thousand people out of the city it is one of the most remarkable achievements of modern merchandising. The increase will continue to grow as the people return from their outing. In Sunday's TIMES you will find some mighty interesting reading; it will be of interest to you. A few special offerings will be made that will cap the climax. A few things will be in our windows for your special information today, and in Sunday's TIMES there will be more particulars about other departments. The Dress Goods Department is showing very large gains—more than ever before. You will find our 55c line better than any offering ever made; they are of more than special value; they are worth fully one dollar a yard, and as they are all new there can be no mistake about their value. Next Wednesday the carpenters begin on the enlargement of the Cloak Department-the Shoe Department will be moved to a lot of tables to close out, and it is necessary to close them as quickly as possible—we need every inch of room. Today will be a busy one in the Shoe Department; Saturday is always a good day. Remember we close Saturday nights at 6 o'clock—it will pay you to do your trading during the day. The cool evenings make the cloak business good. We have a lot of special values in cloaks; all new, and bought to bring more trade in the house; they are being sold for about one-half their value. # DR. WONG.

713 South Main Street, - - Los Angeles, California.

The above are two fac similes of many REWARDS OF MERIT or DIPLOMAS of PROPESSIONAL SKILL which have from time to time been awarded to the CELEBRATED CHINESE PHYSICIAN, DR. WONG, for his superior medical abilities and curative powers.

It has long been customary among the Chinese people when one becomes sick and when repeated attempts to cure him have failed, and he is perhaps given up to die, if, after having been taken to an eminent physician, he be cured of his disease—the cured, too in addition to the regular fee for professional services rendered, makes the physician a present as a token of graditude for his restoration to health and the prolongation of his life. The properties of the strength of the strength of the strength of the physician and physician and his friends, ingless to the average English scholar, but full of meaning to the successful physician and his friends, it is a motto which highly compliments the physician for his great skill in effecting a cure of the discase which once afflicted the donor.

It is not an uncommon thing to see a great number of these COMPLIMENTARY DIPLOMAS adorning the office walls of Chinese physicians in their native country, and indeed a number of the most successful ones in this country are the happy possessors of a few of these high tokens of very superior medical ability.

Close of the Episcopal Bazar—The Affair a Great Success.

With the delightful programme of last evening the Episcopal bazar was brought to a successful close. True it is that there are many tired hands and weary bodies, but the neat sum of money realized for the church, the ladies say, is ample reward for their-labor and trouble. It is seldom, indeed, that a continued fair of this offer deed, that a continued fair of this order does not become monotonous and the at-tendance fall off toward the close, but in this instance the rule has been decidedly of the reverse order, judging from the crow hall that greeted the partipants in last evening's exercises. Many came with plethoric purses which were noticeably diminished in size during their stay, the general sentiment being that so good a

Shortly after the musical programme opened with an instrumental solo by Mrs Reed of Sierra Madre. E. R. Hull followed with a vocal solo, and then Mrs. Abbot Kinney sang and was compelled to respond to an encore. A. H. Armstrong played a solo on the mandolin with Mrs. Littlefield as accompanist, which was followed by a vocal solo by Miss Hurlbut. An instrumental number was next rendered by Miss Brown. after which Seymour Locke sang "My Love Has Come to Me" so well that his hearers would not excuse him until he had followed it up with a most satisfactory interpretation of one of Dudley Buck's. spirited songs, An instrumental solo by Mrs. Littlefield came next, which was followed in turn by vocal solos by Mrs. C. S. Cristy and Mrs. Purcell of San Gabriel. Wiss Huntington, who is a guest of Mrs. Bangs, displayed exceptional accomplishments in both the vocal and instrumental line, and later in the evening Mr, Armstrong, Mrs. Kinney and Mrs. Purcell were heard with pleasure again.

Mr. JOHNSON GODS FREE.

At the City Hall yesterday morning Mr. Johnson was on trial before Jastice Gardner for an alleged attempt, to defraud Mrs. Salter of the Nevada House out of a board bill to the extent of $20. Twelve good men and true were called upon to try the case by the detendant's counsel, J. G. Rossiter, one and all of whom, after the testimony was all in, declared, without much delay, the said defendant not guilty.

There was no denying the fact that Mr. Johnson was somewhat indebted to Mrs. Salter in the way of financial remuneration for board, but as the intent to defraud could not be proven the above verdict was arrived at.

could not be proven the above verdict was arrived at.

It seems that the day Johnson left town he went to Los Angeles as a delegate to the People's Party Convention and with $51 in his inside pocket. Before night he got a healthy jag on and the next morning he awoke to sind his money all gone, hence his inability to return to Pasadena and pay up. Shortly after his discharge from custody Mr. Johnson took his departure for Los Angeles, doubtless never to return.

purchase of land further north and switching at that end would necessitate the removal of the depot 400 feet. Is an after-thought made for effect. At the West Side conference with Mr. Burnett, his attorney and others, it was shown by Mr. Scoville, and not refuted, that the depot built as contemplated on the edge of the Colorado street sidewalks, the platform extending northward, the train from Los Angeles could pull up, unload its passengers in two minutes and proceed into the switch-yard, bring the locomotive to the other end of the train, remain in position until two minurchase of land further north and switch. bring the locomotive to the other end of the train, remain in position until two minntes before time of departure, pull down to platform, load up and depart. It is not believed that any reason exists for not adopting this plan except that of economy. That the Terminal would, in any case, remove the depot 400 feet north, is a proposition entirely unworthy of credence.

The Board of Equalisation Fast Completing its labors—General News Notes.

The Board of Equalization is fast completing its labors. The assessment roll is higher than last year, though the rate is lower. There has been a considerable amount of valuable property added to the city is growing and that very rapidly. The board often takes strolls over the city to look at property, and yesterday visited one of the largest soda fountains in the city and sampled its contents. They also visited the winery, where thousands upon thousands of gations of fine wine are stored, but of course they did not sample the contents. The public will understand how that is. A good many changes have been made in values but none of much importance.

The city is having quite a building boom, and the carpenters are very busy. The handsome new edifice which the Christian Church people are putting up is fast nearing completion, and when finished will be one of the largest and handsomest in the city. The work on the two new school buildings is progressing rapidly, and contractor Goodwin is pushing the work forward as rapidly as possible. Work on the brick business block which the LO.O.F. will erect will begin in a few days. The building will be placed on the corner of Second and Ellen streets, as George Heath, who donated the lot, which is the third one east of Ellen, has exchanged with Charles Wright, who owned the corner Jot. Mrs. P. H. Taylor will also erect a brick building, joining the Odd Fellows' building. It looks very much like the new brick hotel which has been mentioned before, and which is to stand on the corner of Second and Garey avenue, will also be erected at an early day.

The Major is the man who came here about three weeks ago and rented the Byron Waters mansion at Bunker Hill Station on the moter road between this place and Colton, for the purpose of starting a boarding-school for boys, and for which it was claimed he had already secured twenty-five scholars. The man signed himself as "Maj. John Burgess, A. M.," and gave Virginia as his home. He is a man below medium height, smooth shaven, an agreeable conversationalist and appears to be about 60 per proficient educator. His mission here, he said, was to establish a school for boys, which he proceeded to prepare for in the Waters residence, calling the new institution that was to be, "St. John's Military Academy." In support of his claim to be an educator of the military stripe, he exhibited what purported to be testimonials from Prof. Collier, of Collier Military Institute, New York city, Prof. James, of Oak Grove College, Bethel, N. He ordered lumber for the remodeling of the Waters house for school purposes, and it was being prepared. He kept a type-writer at work in his room at the new St. Charles, sending letters to teachers' agencies, banks and numerous other institutions. ### CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Regular Weekly Meeting of the Board of Directors.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce met yesterday afternoon. There were present Directors Wells, Forman, Breed, McGarvin, Klokke and Freeman.

The Committee on Membership reported, advising that certain delin-quents, four in number, be dropped from the roll, and on motion such action was taken.

The committee appointed to interview the directors of the District Agri-cultural Fair on the matter of the hold-ing of the agricultural portion of the fair in the rooms of the Chamber of fair in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, reported that a satisfactory arrangement had been made and that the chamber would hold the fair this year. The report, was adopted by the board. It was decided to make a historical exhibit a feature of the fair.

A communication sent by William P. Craighill, colonel corps of engineers, U.S.A.; to Hon. S. M. White and by him forwarded to the chamber was read. It contains the law authorizing the appointment of a beard of engineers to examine Santa Monica and San Pedro harbors, and says:

pointment of a board of engineers to harbors, and says:

It is expected the board will reach Los Angeles about September I. Precise notice of the day of assembly will be given by relegraph from San Francisco, where the board will rendezvous.

The names of a number of gentlemen have been given me, as senior member of the board, by whom valuable information could be given concerning the important subject of our mission.

It is intended, if agreeable to the communities and parties interested, to have public meetings at Los Angeles, San Pedro and Santa Monica, unless a single meeting at Los Angeles would sunice. It is desired to hear fully all parties who wish to make oral statements and to have a stenographic record of the proceedings.

In addition, it is extremely desirable, in order to save time and expedite the business, that statistical information be given the board in print or writing. The organization of one or more committees to have this information prepared before the arrival of the board would be a very great help.

The secretary reported, in obedience The secretary reported, in obedience to instructions given at the last meeting, upon the attendance of each member of the board at its meetings since the beginning of the year. The secretary was instructed to file such report quarterly hereafter and to send copies of this report to each absent member of the board.

Director Wells reported that while in San Francisco he had visited the rooms of the State Board of Trade and learned that they were just about to move to new and more commodious quarters, and he therefore advised that no action be taken in the matter of making a case for the board until the location be determined upon. This was, upon motion, decided by the board.

The secretary stated that a member of the chamber had recommended that notices be posted in all railway stations with regard to the receiving of produce for the exhibit room by the chamber. It was moved and carried to have such notices printed and the president was made a committee of one to draw up the same.

The board then adjourned

[Southern Stockman and Farmer.] [Southern Stockman and Farmer.]

I draw my thumb-nail over the melon, scraping off the thin green skin. If the edges of the skin on each side of the scar are left ragged or grannlated, and the rind under the scar is smooth, firm and white and has something of a glassy appearance, the melon is ripe. But if the edges of the scar are smooth and even and the the thumb-nail has dug into the rind in places, and the skin does not come off cleau, then the melon is green. You can easily learn on two melons, one ripe and the other green, noting the difference after they have been cut open.

SANTA ANA.
Francisco Torres breathed some easier Francisco Torres breathed some easier yesterdey morning as gray dawn broke in the East and the birds began to sing in the large sycamore tree that stands just to the rear and south of the County Jail. His suspense, for one night at least, was over and he felt, no doubt, grateful for the appearance of the first rays of a morning sun.

The night passed quietly, although at different times it looked agood deal like there would be a tragic demonstration before morning. It is reported that several indignation meetings were held during the early nation meetings were held during the early part of the night and that some of the residents of the county who were present were inclined to favor the adoption of the Judge Lynch method of meting out justice to the criminal. Wiser heads prevailed, however, and no term were week.

Lynch method of meting out justice to the criminal. Wiser heads prevailed, however, and no steps were taken for immediate action on that line.

All night long the guards chatted pleasantly together, passing the long morning hours as best they could under the circumstances. The interior of the jail was so arranged that the guards could have held their ground against almost any-sized mobilit was fortunate that no attempt was made to force an entrance to the jail, as such action on the part of the vigilantes would surely have resulted in the loss of life of perhaps a number of the residents of the county.

At 9 o'clock Torres was taken before Justice of the Peace George E. Freeman in the Superior courtroom, followed by a large crowd which completely packed the room. Torres took a seat on the east side of the room and could not refrain from casting searching glances over the room to discover countenances with which he was familiar.

Torres took a seat on the east side of the room and could not refrain from casting searching glances over the room to discover-countenances with which he was familiar. An interpretor was procured and the warrant for his arrest read to him. He was charged with the crime of murder, and the trial set for Tuesday, August 18, after which he was committed to the care of the Sheriff, without bail. He was returned to his cell followed by 100 or more boys and men. Torres kept close to the omeers, and seemed relieved when he had reached his cell.

There has been a constant stream of visitors to the jail all day. Torres takes it all good-naturedly and rather seems pleased to know the people are so anxious to get a look at him, While he is rather diminutive in size he has a hard brutal face that marks its possessor a being of low mind, beastly passions, victous habits and murderous instincts.

While the officers feel there is no danger now from undue violence yet the guard will be maintained and every precaution taken to insure the safety of the prisoner and to further the ends of justice in a manner that would do credit to any civilized community.

further the ends of justice in a manner that would do credit to any civilized comminity.

According to the story claimed to have come from Torres, yesterday Detective "Keno" Wilson and George T. Insley were not more than one or two days behind him when he was arrested. Wilson and Insley left here last Tuesday afternoon, taking with them Francisco Bemia and another Mexican who is known to be a good mountain trailer, and going directly to the San Jacinto Mountains, where they had every reason to believe Torres had gone. Bemia is of the same mixed breed that Torres is from and knows him well. Bemia claims to have met Torres on the trail and that Torres told him he was going to an indian wood camp in the San Jacinto Mountains. After reaching this wood camp Tuesday night the officers found their game had disappeared, but they had good reasons for believing he had gone south, and were trailing in that direction when the news reached them of the villain's capture at Mesa Grande. When Torres was first captured he claimed to ex-Constable Wood to have been chopping wood back up in the mountains in an Indian's camp.

POLITICAL MEETINGS.

This has been a week of political meetings for Santa Ana. The People's party, the Prohibitionists, the Democrats and the Republicans have all taken a hand in the organization of campaign clubs for effective work in the fray. The People's party and the Prohibitionists believe their tickets will be voted with but little scratching. The Republicans show but little, if any, inclination to parley in the contest for nominations for local offices, but the sky over the Democratic camp is darkening; the elements are at war and the powers that be are struggling for supremacy. The storm is rapidly approaching, and unless its is rapidly approaching, and unless its course is changed it will burst in on the course is changed it will burst in on the party at the convention to select Democratic nominess for county offices, and the peals of Democratic thunder that, will surely follow are likely to frighten the daylights out of the more unboly ones.

sess. Now, there is a secret that has never been revealed to the world, and that is the sure way to possess these hands of beauty. Use MOLLINE. A proved success. This discovery was made by a graduate of London Engevening's exercises. Many came with plethoric purses which were noticeably diminished in size during their stay, the general sentiment being that so good a cause was worthy of generous support, as it most surely was. Among the notable collection of pencil and brush work at the art booth there are two India ink sketches of exceptional merit which have been the subject of many admiring comments, and what makes them doubly interesting is the fact that they were done by a young lady who has had but little or no instruction, the two drawings being the first efforts of a natural artist, Miss Emily Sorby. Near by also hangs Miss Bixby's beautiful painting, "The Broken Pitcher," a copy from the original at Paris, while there are many more noteworthy ones grouped about, representing among others the talented hands of Mr. Proctor and Miss Treadwell. There were many well-known people among the purchasers yesterday. Senator Jones's family spent some time in the hall and invested in many articles of fancy goods. Judge Lacy bought the large screen painted by Miss Desmond. Mrs. Wolfskill invested quite a sum in bricabrac. The antique pottery jar was purchased by Mrs. Steele of Santa Monica. Mrs. Robinson of Los Angeles assisted the cause by investing a number of dollars, and Mrs. Judge Otis of Redlands did likewise. To Mr. Oliver, the chief of the Decovation Committee, is due much credit for the excellent and artistic arrangement of the booths and their trimmings.

The improvements contemplated and now under way in and about Santa Monica probably represent a larger aggregate of capital tobe expended here than at any similar resort along the Pacific Coast. The wharf work is forging rapidly ahead, the municipal authorities are busy on the laying of sidewalks and repair of streets and in almost every block the sound of hammer and saw tells of new structures being built, both for business and dwelling purposes. A model town and the leading resort are the two things the town now aspires to be and the signs of the times portend suc land college and a learned chemist. The horrors of the kitchen is no more a worry to the housewife. No matter how stained and grimmy the hands may be, one application of the wonderful MOLLINE will leave them as soft and white as if no kitchen work had been done. For sale by all druggists in large hottles, 50 cents.

Something More About That Pacific Mail Subsidy Matter.

Another Special Trainload of Frui Starts Eastward.

Arranging Freight Rates Between Lo Angels and San Francisco—General, Local and Personal

The Los Angeles Terminal Company is meeting with much opposition in the effort to change the location of its depot in Pasadena and lay an additional track across Colorado street—an improvement considered necessary for better service for the public. It appears that the greater part of the opposition to the project comes from citizens of Orange Grove avenue, who keep their horses and carriages and have a fond-ness for driving to and from the business part of Pasadena through Colorado street. They assert that the location of the depot on that thoroughfare will cause the locomotives to be so near the street that their horses will take fright and that the location of the tracks as desired will result in much switching of cars back and forth. Friends of the road allege that the people who are obstructing the enterprise have no interest in the commercial importance of Pasadena and oppose all railroad progress as a matter of principle, especially when their own convenience or pleasure is at stake. They want Colorado street for a driveway, though few if any of the obstructionists have any proprietary interests in it. To offset the opposition of the Orange Grove avenue citizens friends of the road have started a petition to the Council, signed already by 325 names, asking that body to grant the franchise asked for. The signers of this petition realize the fact that the Terminal road has done much for Pasacars back and forth. Friends of the road Terminal road has done much for Pasa

"If you do not call that a subsidy, I do not know what else you can call it," said the Traffic Association man. Placing a sheet of paper and a pehcil on his desk he commenced to do some figuring and then continued his talk, saying: "Whatever earnings the Pacific Mail Company has during each month are placed to the credit of the Transcontinenial Association, and on the debit side of their ledger they record the $75,000."

The Associated Press dispatch printed in THE TIMES of yesterday announced the election of John J. Valentine to the the election of John J. Valentine to the office of president of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, a position made vacant by the resignation of Lloyd Tevis.

As Mr. Valentine and the great corporation of which he is now the head are both legitimate subjects of public interest, some further reference to interest, some further reference to them in the columns of this journal will at this time be entirely apropos. Mr. Valentine is a native of Kentucky, having been born at Bowling Green in that State November 12, 1840. His American ancestor, John Valentine, came to that State from England in 1640 and was descended from a distincame to that State from England in 1640 and was descended from a distinguished family of that name, who had their estate at Bendiff Hall, in the parish of Eccles, County Lancaster. His great grandfather was a soldier of the Revolution.

Mr. Valentine has gone through the usual viciositudes of the stalwart American citizen who carves his own way in the world. He began his business career as a druggist's clerk, and, as the firm with which he was engaged were also express agents in Bowling Green, his experience in business dates back to 1854, a period of thirty-eight years. He was with the old Adams Express Company in the early days of rallroads in Kentucky, and came to this State in 1862, where he was appointed joint agent for Wells, Fargo & Company, the Pioneer Stage Company and the California State Telegraph Company at Strawberry Valley, Eldorado county; later he was transferred to Virginia City, Nev., as agent there for the Overland Mail Company and the Pioneer Stage Company.

By this time young Valentine had be-as agent there for the Overland Mail Company and the Pioneer Stage Company.

By this time young Valentine had begun showing his employers the stuff he was made of, and hence was appointed superintendent of the Pioneer Stage Company, the most perfectly-equipped and managed line in the country.

Continuing to develop the qualities adapted to the great business of transportation, he was next appointed superintendent of the Pacific Division of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, and was advanced from time to time until, in 1868, he was offered a managing position at New York headquarters, but declined. In the spring of 1869 he was again called to New York and appointed general superintendent with headquarters in that city, but the business of the corporation being at that time principally on the Pacific Coast the general office was shortly transferred to San Francisco; consequently, since the summer of 1870 Mr. Valentine has been a resident of California, and during the twenty odd years intervening between that date and the present no man has been more closely identified with the State's interests.

In 1862 he was made a director of the company and its vice-president, and soon after the new office of general manager was created, which he was unanimously elected to fill.

From the beginning of his career Mr. Valentine has manifested his strong, natural aptitude for the work to which his life is devoted, but his talents are of too versatile a character to be entirely absorbed in ohe particular occuracion.

A case in point:

Mrs. Belden an estimable and elderly lady of fill Mason St., S. F. was for months declining so rapidly as to soriously alarm her family. It got so bad that she was finally afficied with fainting spells. She writes; "While in that dangerous condition I saw some of the testimonials concerning J. V. S. and sent for a bottle. That marked the turning point. I regained my lost flesh and strength and have not felt so well in year." That was two years ago and Mrs. Belden is well and hearty to-day, and still taking J.V. S. his life is devoted, but his talents are of too versatile a character to be entirely absorbed in ohe particular occupation. He has found time to prepare and publish each year a summary of the produce of gold and silver of the entire country, which is comprehensive in its research and generally recognized as reliable and leading authority on the subject. The knowledge thus acquired, coupled with his zeal for the public welfare in every department of Government, constrained him in 1891 to take a lively hand in the newspaper dovernment, constrained him in 1891 to take a lively hand in the newspaper discussion then going on over the free coinage of silver and his contributions on that subject to the press were remarkable for clear reasoning, careful research and a formidable array of statistical figures in support of conclusions.

The gist of his contention on this subject is that, to preserve honest money, an absolute parity of values must be maintained between gold and silver and that this cannot be effected by removing all restrictions whatever from the coinage of silver—the inevitable effect of which would be to create a glut in the home market and depreciate its value. In other words, a commercial ratio—an interchangeable proportion, so to speak, on a traffic basis—must be maintained between the gold and silver coinage of the country, the dollar unit of coinage of both metals being of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value, or the output of silver coinage be limited within certain bounds.

Mr. Valentine is also a man of extensive and judicious reading, discriminating judgment and a wonderfully retentive memory. Consequently from a well-stored mind he marshals facts when demanded, in a most felicitous manner. well-stored mind he marshals facts when demanded, in a most felicitous manner. He has also the warm spirit of charity alive in his bosom, and has identified himself with the great charitable movements of the age by organized efforts among the agent's of his company, raising in this manner great sums of money for distressed communities. Notable among them were the sufferers by the Chicago fire, 1871; yellow fever at Memphis, 1873; overflow of the Mississippi, 1874; inundation of Marys.

ville, Cal., 1875; great fire at Virginia, Nev., 1875; grasshopper plague of Kanasa and Nebraska, 1875; the terrible yellow fever scourge of 1878, and the forest fires in Wisconsin, 1882.

In other less conspicuous works of human sympathy and private charity, and in the religious and educational institutions of the community in which he lives, his presence and influence are constantly felt and gratefully appreciated. He is a member of the Advent Episcopal Church of Oakland, vice-president of Young Men's Christian Association of San Francisco. In short he has proven himself to be not only an efficient officer, but one of the very highest types of the clean, honorable, warm-hearted American gentleman who cast luster and distinction upon that term. cast luster and distinction upon that term.

No sketch of Mr. Valentine's career would be complete without some reference to the great corporation of which he is now the actual active head.

In March, 1852, Henry Wells, William G. Fargo and others organized in New York city, under the laws of New York State, Wells, Fargo and Company, to transact an express, exchange and banking business, particularly on the Pacific Coast, but also between San Francisco, New York and Europe.

The company sprang into existence fully equipped for service, and has maintained through the most trying commercial victisitudes its successful place among the great institutions of this country. It spans the continent with its lines, extending to forty-three States and Territories, and to Mexico, British Columbia, Great Britain and Continental Europe. In 1888 it acquired the Erie system, centering in New York, and other auxiliary lines, thus securing its own direct way to the great cities of the country where it is now preëminently represented. It operates 40,000 miles of lines by rail-thus securing its own direct way to the great cities of the country where it is now preëminently represented. It operates 40,000 miles of lines by railway, stage and steamer; has over 3000 agencies and more than 6200 employés; transacts millions of business in its express department and has the largest assets in its banking department of any commercial banking concern on the Pacific Coast.

It was Wells, Fargo & Co. that, in 1860, originated the famous pony express for the rapid conveyance of mail matter across the continent by the daring men who went out on every trip with their lives in their hands. But their trail is now two shining lines of steel, and the screeching of the iron steed has replaced the neigh of the tough and wiry pony on the big plains. The company owns its own building in San Francisco, which is one of the architectural features of that city, and probably the most thoroughly-appointed express office on the globe.

It is fitting that great men and the great institutions of commerce should have honorable mention, for both are lessons in industry, integrity and in all the qualities that are admirable in the economic life of the country which they adorn.
